

What Is Claimed Is:

1. In the continuous electroplating of an article, the improvement comprising an electrically conductive resin to form a surface intended to be electroplated.